

Green Sun Rising makes solar bikeport

Green Sun Rising, a Windsor-based renewable energy company and trainer, has added a solar bikeport to its product line at operations on Kildare Road.

In addition to protecting a bike from rain or snow, the bikeport has three flexible solar modules on the roof that will produce enough power to fully charge an e-Bike battery on a sunny day.

The all-aluminum unit features energy-efficient two-watt lamps to provide light for locking and unlocking the bike at night.

For further information, visit ret-center.com.